After a pleasant long weekend in celebration of Memorial Day and my three day project to purge the clutter from my home office, we are greeted with two pieces of data. ♦

- Home values plummeted almost 20% the past year (with still more downside to go).
- Consumer Confidence came in above expectations but far below healthy.

The market has reacted by rocketing upward. ♦ Is this a complete disconnect? ♦ How can you use this information to your advantage? ♦ Today's Pod-Blog gives you two tips.
